

The e-fellows.net career network supports undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate students who achieve outstanding results in their studies, internships, periods spent abroad, and extracurricular activities with the e-fellows.net scholarship

The scholarship gives scholars access to the Internet and over 3000 archives for research purposes as well as newspaper subscriptions free of charge. Exclusive offers of internships and entry-level jobs together with a mentor program provide scholars with ideal opportunities for establishing contact with top companies.

The scholarship is awarded for one year and can be extended until the end of the scholar's graduate or postgraduate studies if their achievements continue to be very good.

We hereby confirm that

Jan Wolfram Limbeck

was accepted into the e-fellows.net scholarship program on 07/21/2003.
